

Spinnaker Pole Mast Adjustment Kits

Spinnaker Pole Adjustment allows the sail shape to be change to match the wind conditions and the point of sale you are on. Being able to match the pole height at the mast (inboard end) to the outboard end increases the stability of the sail set.

Using the system as shown allows the inboard end of the pole to be moved up and down the mast as required. Also if enough track is fitted a pole can be stowed up the forward face of the mast rather than on the deck.

The T-Track is available in 25mm and 32mm sizes and parts can be bought as individual units or as a kit. Kits can be bought with track (supplied in multiples of 1.2m due to shipping surcharges) or as a set of parts and then add the track to your requirements.

Lowering the Spinnaker pole end down flattens the sail and reduces the power of the sail but by raising the pole will make the sail fuller and increases its power. Keeping the pole level gives better control of the spinnaker and stops the pole getting 'cocked'.

The system shown is a 2:1 on the lift but can be reconfigured to 1:1, 3:1 or 4:1
